Ditch to be dug

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Councilmembers agreed to help residents dig a drainage ditch to alleviate a flooding problem on Wade Road in Romulus.

David and Sandra Savage received notice Oct. 26 from James Panos, director of the public works department, requesting the homeowners remove all material placed in the ditch and easement of their home which caused standing water along Wade Road. The water could pose a threat of property damage to several homes in the area, according to Panos.

"The standing water saturates the road bed which in turn results in pumping of the pavement causing premature pavement failure," Panos said.

The Savages appeared before councilmembers Dec. 10 in an attempt to gain council support.

"I lived at this address for 28 years," David Savage said. "I paid taxes for 28 years and feel I should receive some benefits. The water in the ditch would turn green and smell bad. There were mosquitoes all over."

Wayne County officials cleaned up the Savage ditch when new developers were building homes on Cogswell, according to Savage. The cleanup, however, left a mess.

"They left a holding pot in my yard," Savage said. "About three years ago, I had a bulldozer fill in the ditch. I don't feel I should pay for a drain pipe. I feel my taxes should pay for the ditch. I agree there's a problem, but I don't feel it's all my problem."

City engineers estimated the cost to repair the ditch and install a pipe would run about $5,900, not including labor fees.

Councilman Ellis Pennington went out to observe the area around Wade Road and sympathized with the Savages.

"You've got drainage back there that's 30 feet deep," Pennington said. "If we put a 16 by 24 drain there, you're going to have the drain up on the ground. If you dig a ditch through his property and dig a ditch down to the end of his property, you're going to create a holding pond in his yard."

Toxic scare

10 Avis employees treated and released from hospital

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

The 10 Avis Rent A Car employees who suffered from bromine inhalation at the Detroit Metropolitan Airport last week were treated and released.

On Dec. 7, the Wayne County Hazardous Materials Team assisted airport officials on report of a possible chemical spill at Avis Rent A Car.

When emergency officials arrived at the scene, there wasn't a spill, according to Irma Clark, press secretary for Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara. Five pints of bromine were found by the Avis dumpster.

One of the pints cracked and started to foam, according to an Avis employee who spotted the bottles.

The employees exposed to the chemical were transported to Annapolis Hospital in Wayne.

"All 10 men suffered from bromine inhalation," said Simone Topouzian, public relations assistant for Annapolis. "Some were given oxygen. There were no serious injuries."

Bromine is hazardous if it is inhaled or swallowed. It can cause burns or irritation to the skin. Bromine does not ignite readily.

— Tom Handyside
Executive of K and D

The HAZMET team and various city fire departments assisted with the incident. K and D Industrial Services Inc. disposed of the chemical at Chem-Met Services in Wyandotte, according to Tom Handyside, executive vice-president of K and D.

"We contained the chemical in a large drum that was filled with an absorbent material on the bottom," Handyside said. "Bromine is hazardous if it is inhaled or swallowed. It can cause burns or irritation to the skin. Bromine does not ignite readily."

Airport officials are continuing an investigation.

Resident is irate over Metro Airport noise

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus resident Alan Bell is asking for some type of support and relief from Detroit Metropolitan airplanes booming over his home on Burton Road.

"I live less than a mile north of Smith Road," Bell said. "I've replaced my garage windows once and tried to put silicone around other windows. I also have a storm window that's cracked."

When Bell decided to buy his home in Romulus three years ago, he said he didn't hear the planes zooming above the house. Now, Bell has broken windows, cracked dinner plates and a frustrated family.

"It's the 747s that really shake up the house," Bell said. "The smaller 727 planes are still terribly loud. I'm not asking for them to stop the airplanes. I'm just asking for them to help the people."

Bell, a construction worker, has four children. He believes his noise problem is just going to be lost in the political shuffle.

Brian Amann, Wayne County noise czar, vowed he is going to try and help Bell and other Romulus residents plagued by the rumbles of the airplanes.

Bell, however, is not alone with his plea for help. Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally lives down the road from Bell and sympathizes with his problem.

"The problem is what we have now is not what we're going to have in the future," McAnally said. "As construction begins on the modernization of the airport, the configuration will change day to day. His homeowner's insurance should help him if he is suffering damages."

McAnally said every window in her home is cracked from the airplane noise, but she is also hoping the problem will not linger.

Modernization plans for Detroit Metropolitan Airport include the construction of anti-noise berms.

Fatals up in city

By MARGO DEWEY

Reports on fatal car crashes continue to add up at the Romulus Police Department.

On Dec. 3, 24-year-old Tenechia Wesley of River Rouge was driving too fast on Ecorse Road in Romulus, according to police.

Wesley hit a truck head-on after her car went out of control between Inkster and Middle Belt roads, officer Rich Schwartz said.

"She was going too fast," Schwartz said. "She was killed instantly after hitting a K and D Industrial Services truck."

On Nov. 28, a 21-year-old Romulus resident died as a result of a fatal car crash on Goddard Road.

Ollen E. Glaze was killed while driving a 1984 Cadillac eastbound on Goddard about 10 p.m. when he was hit by another Romulus resident traveling westbound, according to police.

"It appears Glaze crossed the center line which means he would be at fault," detective Lt. Kenneth R. Kraus said.

Both Glaze and Mary Lou Cannon, 49, were transported to Annapolis Hospital. Kraus said Glaze was later sent to the University of Michigan Hospital where he was pronounced dead.

Cannon received minor injuries.

Student receives dream job

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

A Romulus Senior High School student recently received a dream job with The Spiratex Co. in Romulus.

Pat Dermody, president of Spiratex, a custom thermal plastic extrusion company, opened his business doors to Sherwin Springer, 17, to assist with the school co-op program.

"He needed to find a place where he could work with a computer aid program," Dermody said. "Sherwin comes in two hours a day. He draws and designs dies. We've always had a student work for us, but we never worked with the students."

Doug Hoffman, trade and industry co-op coordinator for Romulus Senior High School, organized the program through Business Partnerships for Education.

"Sherwin was interested in engineering and design," Hoffman said. "His training is in computer aided design. Many employers continue to work with students to help further their education. We have about 80 to 90 students in our co-op program."

Hoffman would like the co-op program to start at an earlier age level than 17 or 18.

"We are starting a mentor program at the high school. We're kind of working in conjunction with the other program. Hopefully we will get more students involved," Hoffman said.

When students complete the co-op program such as Springer, Hoffman said it gives them the work experience and a recommendation.

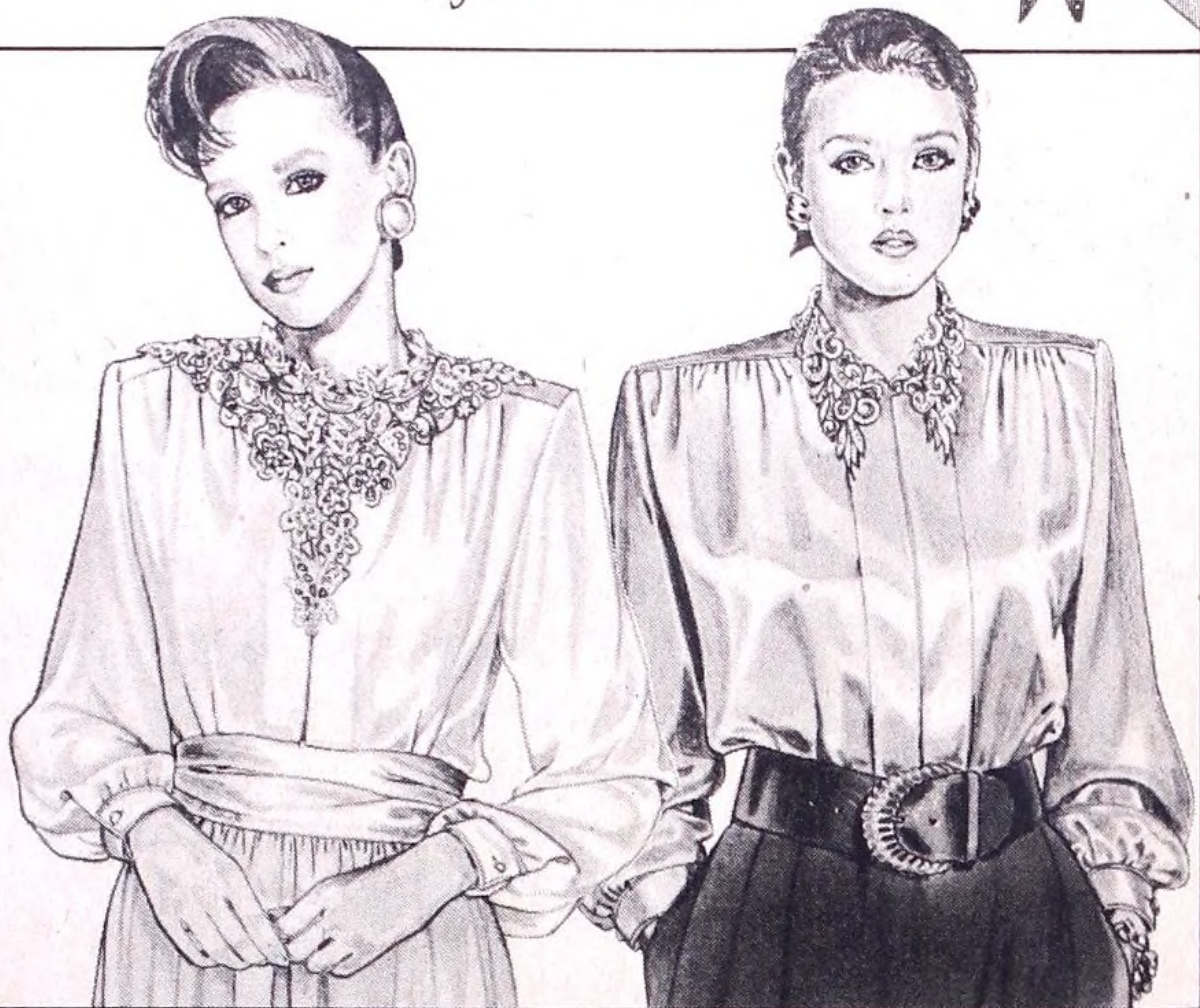

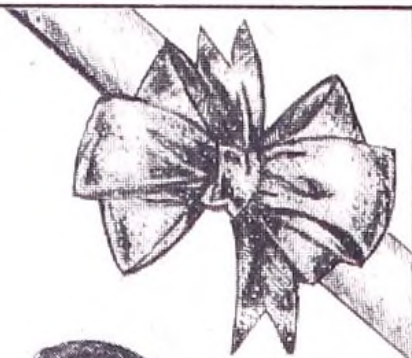

"It definitely addresses that problem where you can't get a job without experience and you can't get experience without a job," Hoffman said.

About 60 businesses in Romulus are involved with the partnership program, which assists district schools to help further education for all students beyond the classroom.

Each business helps the students learn on-the-job skills to use in the future.

Students to receive
Good News cards

News travels fast.

But Robert La Chance, Romulus Community Schools activities director, wants to make sure it's not all bad.

He would also like to see good news travel fast. So La Chance has distributed good news post cards to district teachers. The cards give teachers the opportunity to give positive feedback to students and parents for the work students have made.

"It gives students a few strokes," La Chance said. "The cards are mostly for academic improvements."

The postcard-sized cards are mailed to a students' home. But they aren't just limited to academics, La Chance said.

"They also could be for good conduct in the classroom," he said. "There's no limit of the amount of cards a student can receive."

New printing shop to stamp mark in city

A new printing shop in Romulus is opening its doors to residents and area schools.

Carolina Printwear at 13541 Huron River Drive will host a grand opening this weekend, according to Pat Diggs, owner of the business.

"This is a T-shirt shop with custom printing and embroidery," Diggs said. "We're trying to be more than a T-shirt shop by offering sweatshirts, varsity jackets and casual wear."

Depending on what the customer is looking for, Carolina Printwear caters to children and adult sizes. Embroidered quilted jackets run about $35. Casual embroidered jackets cost about $65.

"We have some southwest designs on several T-shirts and sweatshirts. We can also embroider baseball caps," Diggs said.

Diggs is hoping district schools will find out about her great deals on varsity letter jackets. She has all the school colors available.

"A school varsity jacket with a letter on the front and leather sleeves runs about $194," Diggs said. "It takes four to six weeks to order."

Besides sweatshirts and T-shirts, Diggs also carries football practice jerseys, cardigans and golf shirts.

Carolina Printwear is open from 9:30 a.m. to 5:50 p.m. Monday through Saturday and noon until 4 p.m. Sunday.

"For the Christmas season, we will stay open Monday through Saturday until 9 p.m.," Diggs said.

This isn't the first store for Diggs. She said she ran a printwear shop in New Boston for three years.

Company is hired

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

A Southfield construction company was recently hired by Romulus school officials to make recommendations on the new senior high gymnasium and renovation plans for the elementary schools, according to Community Relations Director Art McPharlin.

"Our tentative plans for phase one is to start construction of the new gymnasium by spring of 1991," McPharlin said. "At that time, we will also begin renovation of all five elementary schools and new construction of a multi-purpose room at Merriman Elementary."

School officials are hoping to sell $35 million worth of bonds on Dec. 17, 18 and 19. A special meeting will be staged in the next few weeks for approval to sell the bonds.

Romulus residents approved two of three ballot proposals Nov. 6, taking on one of the highest tax brackets of any community for the children.

Proposition one, the renewal millage of 37 mills, and proposition two, asking for $45 million to improve the schools, both passed with a hearty approval by voters.

The third proposition, $5.4 million for a swimming pool complex, was voted down.

The first proposition addressed the need for the millage renewal of 37 mills on each $1,000 of state equalized valuation on the amount of taxes, which can be assessed against all property in the Romulus Community School district.

Proposition one was geared for 10 additional years of general operating funds to pay the daily cost of operating the school district. The costs include salaries, teaching supplies, lights, heat, repairs and buses.

Under proposition two, school officials were asking for more than $45 million, which would not increase local taxes. The extra money would come from a refinancing plan extending current loans the school district owes into 2001.

School begins program

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus Junior High School has launched a new program to give recognition to students who achieve outstanding work academically and behaviorally.

The program is the Romulus Junior High Recognition Club.

"The idea is to give special recognition to the student who has achieved a (grade A) in the class or who has exhibited outstanding behavior," said Bob LaChance, director of activities.

At each report card marking, LaChance said an out-of-school outing will be planned for students who are nominated to the club.

The first outing is targeted for the Metropolitan Detroit Airport Nov. 28.

"Each teacher submits the name of one student to me. I will give each student an invitation to attend the special outing," LaChance said.

Businesses participating in the Partnerships for Education program will be working with the junior high staff on the new program.

About seven businesses have already assisted the junior high with many activities this year, including the program "Success begins with me." The businesses are: Aztec Manufacturing, Appletree Rehabilitation Services, Courtyard by Marriott, Edgewood Tool and Die, Merriman Executive Inn and Wood Bridge Manufacturing.

"We're trying to get the students out of the schools so they can get an education outside the classroom such as learning how to eat properly in a restaurant," said Ed Clark, coordinator of Partnerships for Education. "We're also trying to give them an understanding of the job opportunities that are available."

Bobby Perea, general manager for Merriman Executive Inn, assists the schools with teaching table etiquette.

"Being able to reach at least one kid helps society in itself," Perea said.

Hobby turns to career

Linda Norman hates cooking but she loves making candy.

What started out as a hobby has turned into a profitable business during Christmas, Valentine's Day and Easter for Norman.

"My son, Curtis, told me to stop making them look so good because people didn't believe they were homemade," Norman said.

It was about six years ago she decided to make all kinds of fancy candies, gingerbread houses and candy boxes. She was just doing it to pass time away.

"I started out doing it for fun," Norman said. "Now I have Valentine's, birthday and Easter orders piled up. One lady has asked me to make some candy for a wedding."

Norman converted the family mobile home into a candy kitchen factory.

"There's a stove, a couch, a television, everything I need," Norman said.

Norman's candies started gaining popularity when her daughter distributed them at Romulus City Hall.

"It was really by word of mouth. My husband would take some to work at Ford Motor Co.," Norman said.

"This year, the two-pound chocolate Christmas tree is $12. Candy boxes filled with candy are $12. Prices vary anywhere from 75 cents on up for the sweets," Norman said.

Norman has a hefty Christmas supply ready for anyone looking for a sweet Christmas gift idea. Residents interested can call Norman at 941-4850.

School to turn property over to city

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus school board officials will turn over 10 acres of school property to the city for construction of a park adjacent to Hale Creek Elementary School.

"The board reserved the right to approve the final draft for the park," Community Relations Director Art McPharlin said. "The city needs the property deed to 17.59 acres of school property in order to apply for state and federal grant money."

Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally and Duwayne Martin, director of parks and recreation, met with Hale Creek Elementary staff and parents Dec. 11 to discuss opening a new neighborhood park just west of the school.

The city wanted to find out what kind of neighborhood park residents and the school staff envisioned for the community.

City officials have to act quickly because plans for the park must be submitted to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources by Jan. 1.

We're going to utilize properties about 10 acres west of Hale Creek on the school property. We requested a long-term lease from the board of education.

- Duwayne Martin
Parks & recreation director

We're going to utilize properties about 10 acres west of Hale Creek on the school property," Martin said. "We requested a long-term lease from the board of education to apply for a grant for the park."

The city decided to work with the community on design plans for the park to ensure the investment fits the needs of the residents, according to Martin.

"We're not sure about the cost right now because we don't know what amenities are needed for the park," Martin said. "We also can't put an estimate on the amount of grant that is needed. We will have to match the dollar figure once we apply for the grant."

City officials said they will apply for the grant sometime in April.

Suspect is charged in student shooting

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP Staff Writer

Mac Willis, a 17-year-old Inkster resident who attended Wayne Memorial High School, was charged with assault and intent to commit murder Tuesday before Judge John McCartney at the 18th District Court in Westland.

Willis is accused of shooting a 17-year-old Ypsilanti High School student in the face after a basketball game at John Glenn last Friday night.

McCartney set bond at $100,000, and the date of the pre-examination hearing for Dec. 20.

Kenneth Mayes, a junior at Ypsilanti High School, is in good condition at Mott's Children Hospital in Ann Arbor, according to police.

Police said at about 9:25 p.m. Friday night, students were leaving John Glenn and walking toward the parking lot. An unidentified number of men sitting in the parking lot began name calling. Police believe the harassment was intended for the Ypsilanti students.

"The men were trying to pick a fight," said detective Sgt. Lennis Hayes of the Westland Police Department.

During the name calling, gun shots were fired from a handgun into the air, Hayes said.

Students began fleeing in all directions in an attempt to escape the gunfire. About two minutes later, there was a loud blast.

"A young man from Ypsilanti High School was struck in the head," Hayes said.

Witnesses at the scene told police they saw two cars existing the parking lot at a fast pace. From the description of the vehicles and the license plate numbers, police were able to catch the two cars within minutes, according to Hayes.

"Witnesses were able to contact the police officers who were working the basketball game, and that made it possible to catch the cars within minutes," he said.

School officials were sad after hearing of the shooting, according to Thomas Svitekovich, associate superintendent of schools.

"All of the students and staff are expressing a great deal of sadness and sorrow for the Ypsilanti student and because an incident like this occurred," Svitekovich said.

Dennis O'Neill, superintendent of the Wayne-Westland schools, echoed Svitekovich's remarks Monday night at a school board meeting.

"This is a very difficult time for our school district and our community. Fortunately the young man who was shot is in stable condition, although he may have some permanent disability, our hopes and prayers are for a full and speedy recovery."

He also indicated adults should be held accountable for children who have access to guns.

"As school people, we are constantly watching for signals to identify students with potential problems. As parents and neighbors, we have to be a part of the solution to the problem by identifying and getting help for troubled young people before it's too late," O'Neill said.

One of the four students who fled the scene and was stopped by police is on the John Glenn Basketball team, according to Hayes.

Topics of conversation included the Meals on Wheels program, a means for determining how to best spend about $50,000 bequeathed the Center from the estate of Doris Simester, the need for a new bus, and the need for a new center. Supervisor Jacques suggested that those seniors concerned about these issues contact his office and a meeting would be arranged to discuss them in depth.

Supervisor Jacques requested that she contact Environmental Analyst Babinchak, or Building/Planning Director McNally about this problem.

Savage sponsors
Metric Fair

Youngsters in the fifth-grade classroom of Patricia Kulczycki sponsored a Metric Fair for fellow students at Savage Elementary School.

Students offered games such as Name That Tune, Metric Weight, Fish, Chug-a-lug, Color Walk, Hockey, Bean Bag, Tic Tac Toe, Blackjack and Hangman. Answers to all of the questions or puzzles required metric answers. Candy and gum were distributed as prizes.

Noel Shihadeh, Stacy Brady and Katelynn Sessoms reported the metric games were fun and not very difficult – that is, if you know your metrics.

Traditional Native American foods provided students at Elwell Elementary School with a taste of the first Thanksgiving.

Third-graders in Melissa Costell's class learned about the culture, language and dances of Native Americans before the holiday from a visit by Judy Maracle Ball, a Mohawk Native American and an employee of the Van Buren Public Schools system. Students learned words and numbers in the Objibway language, and were able to solve math problems by the end of the session.

With the aid of Cherie Her-ring, Margaret Rochon and Barbara Rayburn, Ball taught the class to make beaded necklaces.

Ball shared her information about the first Thanksgiving with the class, and the students sampled Indian fry bread, corn bakes, maple syrup and tapioca pudding, all Native American foods.

Highlighting the activities was a visit by Corky Blackelk, a Tlingit Native American. Blackelk displayed his traditional dance regalia and performed other dances.

Opinion

Ground radar must be considered

In light of the runway plane crash last week which left eight people dead, county and Federal Aviation Administration officials must meet to consider speedier installation of a ground radar control at Detroit Wayne County Metropolitan Airport.

Two Northwest Airline planes collided as they prepared to take off from the airport Dec. 3.

Although speculation and "what if's" seldom provide solace or undo the terrible occurrence, it is reasonable to think that had a more superior method of ground traffic control been implemented the accident could have been avoided.

Weather, with heavy fog moving in just as the accident took place, could have played a role. Pilots recently, however, have said that the directing of airplanes from the terminal to the taxiway to the runway is confusing, especially at the Wayne County-operated airport.

Airport officials have stated that the Airport Surface Detection Equipment will be installed next year if renovation and remodeling plans are on schedule. This particular system will allow ground controllers the ability to see the entire surface of the airport and locate all planes waiting on runways.

It is the type of system which could have saved the lives of eight airline passengers last week.

Although the system is scheduled for installation a year from now, construction delays and the like could easily put it off.

We urge county officials to consider speedier installation of the system to ensure safety for all airline passengers using the Wayne County airport.

Make this a safe holiday

This is one of the most dangerous time of the year to be on the road.

We have been blessed to date with calm weather and only one snow storm, but the true hazards of the road are still there — those drivers who drink and/or drive before getting behind the wheel of an automobile.

Each year, hundreds of innocent lives are snuffed out due to drunken drivers, even more so during the holiday season.

We all enjoy getting together with friends and co-workers for some holiday cheer. These events usually involve alcohol.

Arrange car pools to such functions and elect a designated driver before arriving at the party. That person is sworn not to drink alcoholic beverages during the evening.

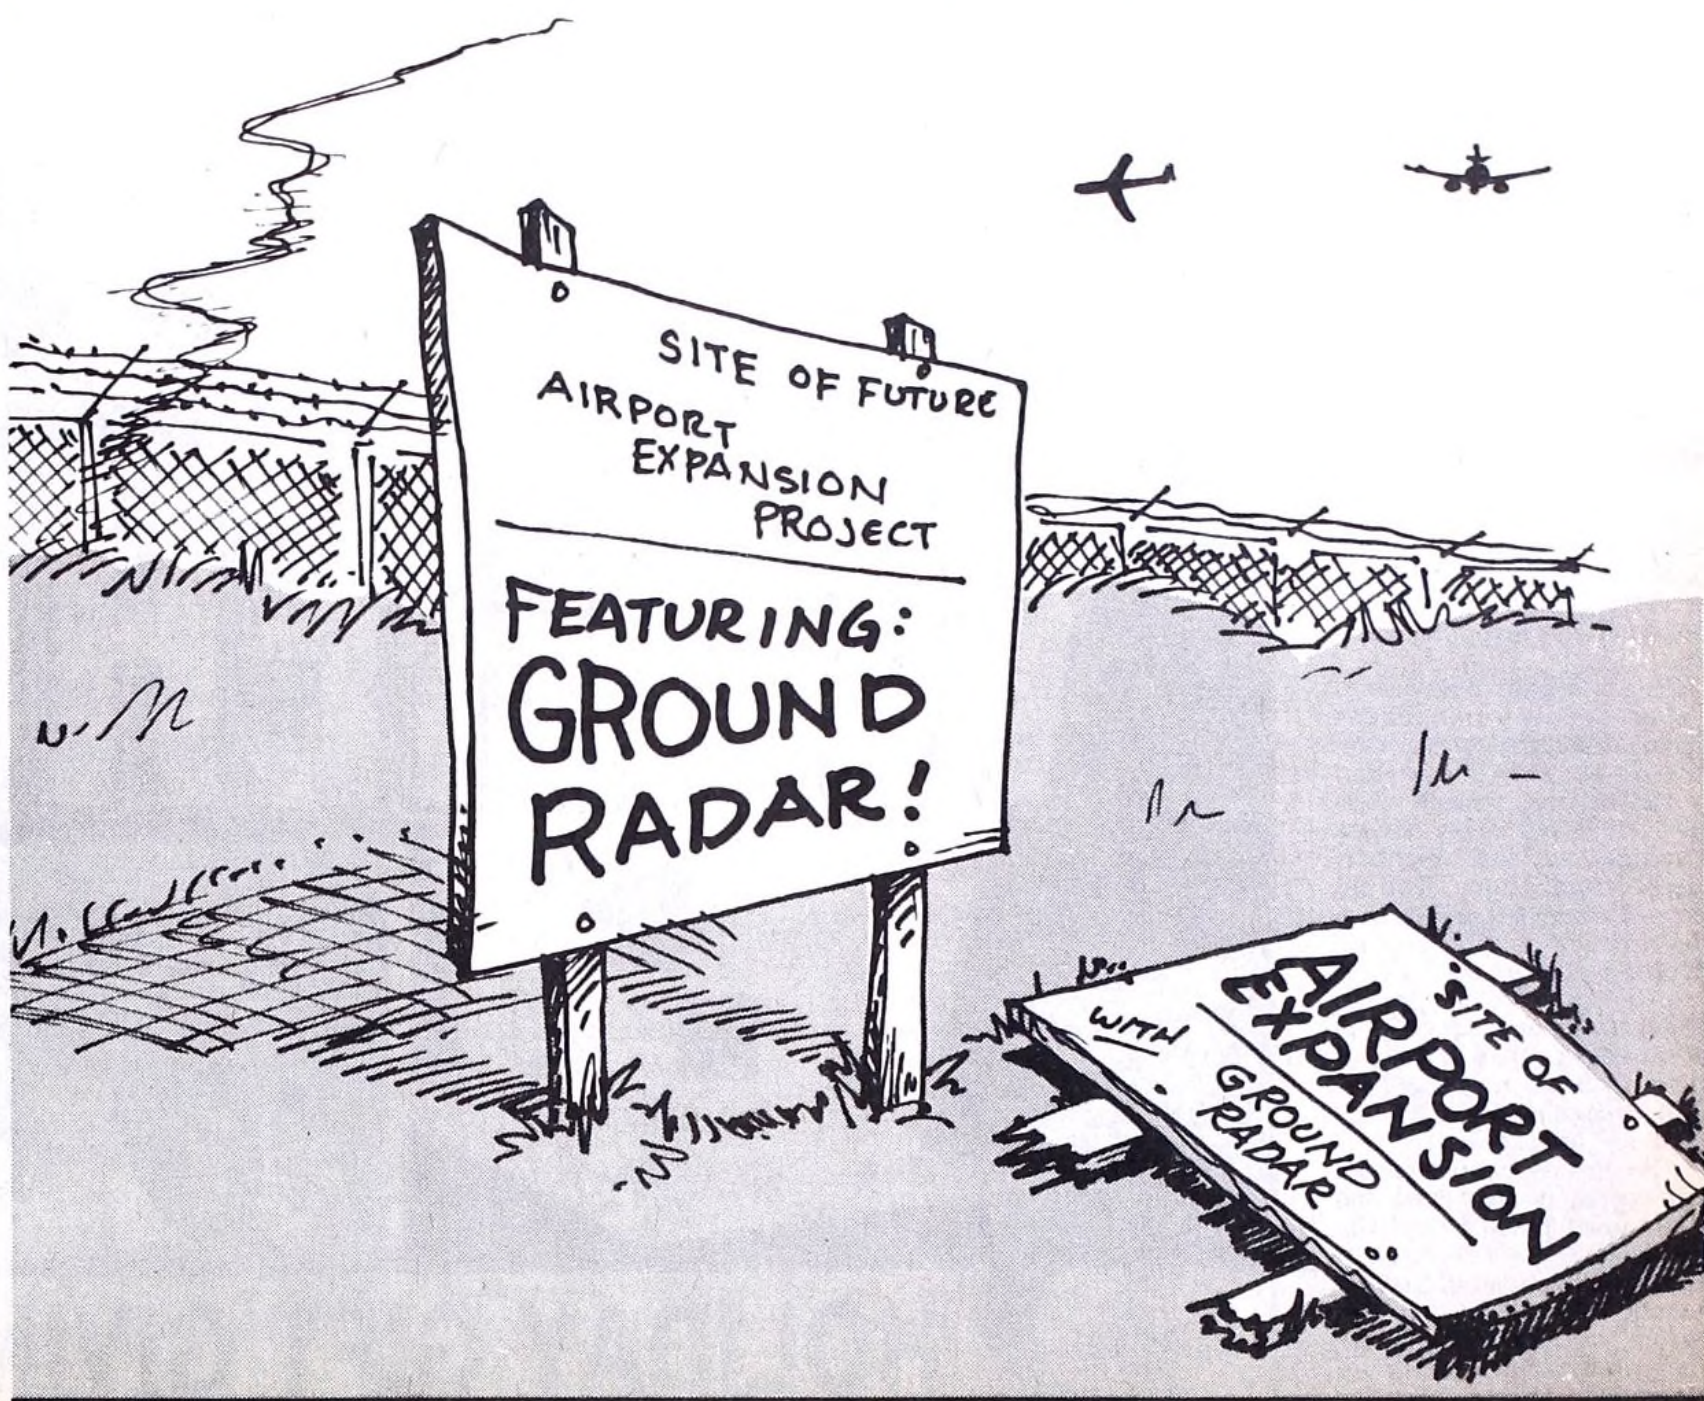

If driving yourself, refrain from drinking alcohol.

Hosts and hostesses may chose to offer an alcohol-free holiday party or they should stop serving alcohol and start pouring coffee long before guests make their way home.

As a friend of someone who has had too much to drink, do not be afraid to take their car keys away, call them a taxi or find them a hotel room or spare bed for the night.

It is better to have a friend who slightly miffed at you, than it is to lose your friend altogether.

Make this a safe holiday season, and don't drink and drive.

Disturbed by editorial

This letter was directed to Governor-Elect John Engler.

Needless to say, I am very concerned and disturbed about a recent article published in the Detroit News/Free Press, on the editorial page, entitled "State Licenses—This is no time to require more health care licensing."

Why on earth would you pledge to abolish the Michigan Department of Licensing and Regulations, after you take office in January, eliminating some of its duties and assigning the rest to others departments? What do other know about nursing laws and procedures?

I have been a licensed practical nurse for over 40 years, and am still actively employed as such. Myself and many others were pioneers in working and lobbying and attempting to make our jobs more secure, by these same licensing laws. This was a very long and difficult procedure to obtain this license. All you have to do is visit a nursing home, which employs unlicensed and unqualified personnel, to care for our ill and very elderly people. It is difficult enough to give good quality care for these unfortunate people, who deserve to be taken care of properly. It would be a grave injustice to people who deserve better.

What about doctors? Are you about to do the same to them? I cannot imagine a physician practicing medicine without a license. You are dealing with human life here, not a piece of car equipment. I can, however, assure you, that we don't need a new array of health care professionals, we need to update what we have. It is, however, essential for the well-being of our citizens, to have licensing a requirement, not an option. I have talked with a number of nurses on this issue, and they too are appalled. I hope they will respond as I have, to inform you that this idea is not feasible for our health care system. Perhaps you should take a long look and study the effects that this would have on our health care professionals, before making such a rash decision.

Hopefully you will leave the Department of Licensing and Regulations, where it is and abolish something else, that is not as important as this. Many of us have gone on to improve our status, by taking educational courses to improve our knowledge for giving good care to today's growing need of good care, especially to our elderly.

Hoping that you will respond to my plea, I will be anxiously waiting to hear about your decision.

Year 1 is big success

The City of Wayne Recycling Program is now one year old. In October of 1989, the City Council established a recycling committee. Shortly thereafter, through the efforts of the committee, a drop-off center was established on the fourth Saturday of the month from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. Initially, it was located at Michigan Ave. East and Wayne Road, but now, in order to better serve the citizens of Wayne, it has been moved to the Department of Public Services yard at the northeast corner of Wayne Road and Forest Street.

On behalf of the committee, I would like to thank the city council for all of their encouragement and support, the many volunteers who have donated over 540 hours toward the recycling effort and, especially, the citizens of Wayne for making the first year of the program such a success. To date, more than 60 tons of newspapers, 1,166 gallons of motor oil and over 26 tons of metal and glass have been recycled. We average over 375 cars per month at the drop-off center.

I would also like to thank the good people of the Downriver Recycling Center and Nate Weiser of Weiser Iron and Metal for their help.

As chairman of the committee, I would also like to thank the members of my committee for all of their efforts and commitment.

As we begin our second year, we are analyzing the best way to institute a composting program for leaves, grass clippings and brush, as about 15 percent of all household waste is yard waste. If we can recycle these items, which are all biodegradable, we will further reduce the pressure on our landfills.

Once again, thank you for helping yourself by recycling and, if you haven't visited the drop-off center yet, please do. We are some of the friendliest people in Wayne.

Robert Boyles
chairman, recycling committee

DIGEST

Judge to be sworn in Former Wayne County Commissioner Milton L. Mack Jr. will be sworn in as judge of the Wayne County Probate Court during ceremonies at 4 p.m. Dec. 18 at the Wayne County Building in downtown Detroit.

A small reception, by invitation only, will follow the investiture ceremony.

Mack was appointed to the court by Gov. James J. Blanchard last month to fill a vacancy on the bench.

Information presented

Questions about recycling will soon be answered as the Conference of Western Wayne offers free presentations and demonstrations throughout the area.

The consortium of 19 western Wayne County communities will make hundreds of presentations on the recycling process by visiting area schools, churches, civic and senior citizen organizations and neighborhood organizations. The information series is made possible through a "Protecting Michigan's Future" grant awarded to the CWW by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. It will address waste reduction, recycling techniques and other issues as they relate to local problems.

"The effectiveness of recycling depends on education and involvement," said Daniel Gilmartin, executive director of the CWW. "Instead of just explaining the concept of recycling, our program focuses on the whole process and what each of us can do."

CWW communities include Belleville, Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Garden City, Inkster, Livonia, Northville, Plymouth, Romulus, Wayne, Westland, Canton Township, Huron Township, Redford Township, Sumpter Township and Van Buren Township.

Presentations will be made through September 1991. Interested groups may schedule a presentation by phoning 525-8690.

Goodfellows collect funds

The Detroit Old Newsboys' Goodfellows as of today have collected $328,319.

The Goodfellows must collect $900,000 to pay for the Christmas packages for which they have already purchased materials. This year they will distribute 39,000 packages to needy children.

Air show dates announced

A pilot for the U.S. Navy Blue Angels flew into Willow Run Airport Wednesday to meet with Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara and an Easter Seals representative to discuss plans for the 1991 Wayne County Air Show.

In their only Michigan appearance in 1991, the Blue Angels will be the featured attraction at the Willow Run Air Show. The airport will also mark its 50th anniversary.

A portion of the proceeds from the air show go to the Easter Seals charity fund.

Transit authority on steady ground for now

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP Staff Writer

The Nankin Transit Authority, a bus service provided to handicapped people and senior citizens around Westland, appears to be on steady financial ground although budget scheduling is near.

Last year, officials from the Southeast Michigan Authority on Regional Transportation, approved the budget for 1990 without any problems, after talk the service would be eliminated. Some representatives of the authority argued that the service catered to only a small portion of the area serviced by the authority, and therefore should not be funded.

The debate began shortly after the authority, which includes representatives of and serves the counties of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb, was reorganized to permit more equal voting privileges among those served.

"Right now, things are fine. In June, we didn't have any trouble having our budget approved for this year," said Charlie Hunter, director of the service.

Hunter, however, was not always so cool about the budget talks. In the midst of union negotiations with his workers, SMART representatives were discussing cuts in his budget which could have put Nankin out of business.

Each year come March, Hunter submits the budget for the transit authority and then has to wait until June to hear if it is approved.

"Things seem to be a little better than they were a few years ago," Hunter said. "We don't know if we'll have to do any battling or not."

The cost of gasoline is a plus for the service, according to Hunter.

"More people are taking the bus because the price of gas is so high," he said. "The recession hasn't ever affected us in the past, so I don't see why it would now."

Little known about county appointee

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The next Wayne County commissioner from the 11th District will be a Democrat, Commissioner Kay Beard said Tuesday.

The vacancy was created when Milton Mack resigned to accept a judicial appointment. Mack's resignation was effective as of Monday.

By county charter, the commissioners have 30 days to fill the vacancy. They may choose not to appoint and ask the County Clerk to set a date for a special election in order to give the voters an opportunity to pick the candidate of their choice.

Also according to the charter, the candidate must be of the same political party of the commissioner he or she succeeds. Since Mack is a Democrat, the appointee also must also be a Democrat.

Beard represents the 12th district, which takes in Westland, Inkster and Garden City. She said the commissioners are studying resumes from prospective candidates.

"I don't know of any consensus candidate at this time or even a favorite," she said.

Beard added the commissioners were to meet in a special session Tuesday afternoon, and "I wouldn't be surprised if we came up with a candidate at this time. But we're meeting to discuss this latest round of vetoes from the county executive."

"By charter, we have 30 days to make the appointment. However, if we don't fill the vacancy, the voters will."

The 11th district includes all of Canton, Van Buren, Sumpter and Huron townships and the cities of Belleville, Wayne, Romulus, Flat Rock and Rockwood.

Whoever gets the $29,970 per year job, the appointee will inherit the problems of the county. Commissioners' salaries will be increased to $41,000 after Jan. 1.

Beard took the opportunity to criticize County Executive Edward McNamara, who she said is determined to eliminate the 15-member board of commissioners.

"In fact, if the county executive has it his way," Beard said, "there wouldn't be any commissioners. He wants to eliminate the positions, via the budget process."

"If he is successful, this would kill the checks-and-balances so inherent in democratic government," Beard said.

Beard said the only way McNamara's objective could be achieved is by a vote of the people.

"I don't think the people of Wayne County want to establish a dictatorship," Beard said.

McNamara was not available for comment at press time Tuesday.

Davis is most valuable Belleville surrenders Tiger Invitational wrestling crown to Adrian

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Despite an outstanding effort from junior Steven Davis and senior heavyweight Jim Howe, Belleville wrestlers Saturday surrendered their Tiger Invitational Wrestling crown to a well-balanced Adrian team.

Adrian, supported by five first places, claimed the 1990 title with a total of 185 points.

"They're good," said Belleville coach Gerald Malecek, whose Tigers finished second in the state a year ago. "Adrian has a team that will be ranked in the state again this year."

Belleville finished third at its own invitational, however, the Tigers produced the best wrestler in the meet in Davis, who won the 130-pound class gold medal with a sterling performance. In fact, the coaches voted the young Belleville grappler the Most Outstanding Wrestler award.

Stevens dumped Northville wrestler Brandon Mardossian in the finals in a 13-8 decision.

They're good. Adrian has a team that will be ranked in the state again this year.

Belleville wrestling coach

Howe, an All-area selection a year ago in the heavyweight category, continued to star for the Tigers. He posted three successive victories to win his division, after flooring Pat Mull of South Lyon in the championship round in 2:57.

South Lyon finished runner-up in the team standings with 173 points. Following the top three teams in the 11-meet tournament were Northville (140.5), Ypsilanti (129), Saline (121), Lincoln Consolidated (110.5), Plymouth (101), Tecumseh (90), Wayne Memorial (54) and Belleville's "B" team (35).

Belleville also produced five other tournament medalists.

Mike Komaromi was forced to settle for a silver as he dropped a close 11-8 decision to George Young of Plymouth Canton, who was awarded the gold in the 171-pound class.

Belleville also received a third-place from 135-pounder Todd Hendrix, who won his consolation bout against Jeff Jannabough of Saline via a 2:25 pin.

The Tigers had a trio of fourth-place finishers in Josh Monte (112), Jay Ballestros (103) and Sean Zaborowski (152).

Ypsilanti wrestler Jim Muscato also earned a second plaque for his efforts in Belleville. The 140-pound grappler took a first and also picked up honors for "Most Falls" in the least amount of time. He had three victories in a combined 5:13 elapsed time.

Belleville was back on the mats Tuesday when the Tigers traveled to neighboring Ypsilanti to compete in a double dual meet which also involved Dexter and Saline. They will begin defense of their Wolverine 'A' Conference title on Thursday at home against the Wyandotte Bruins. Also invited to the double dual is New Boston Huron, a perennial Class B powerhouse.

Gator Bowl to feature local star

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

When the University of Mississippi takes on the University of Michigan Wolverines in the Gator Bowl New Year's Day, it will boast a former local prep star in its lineup.

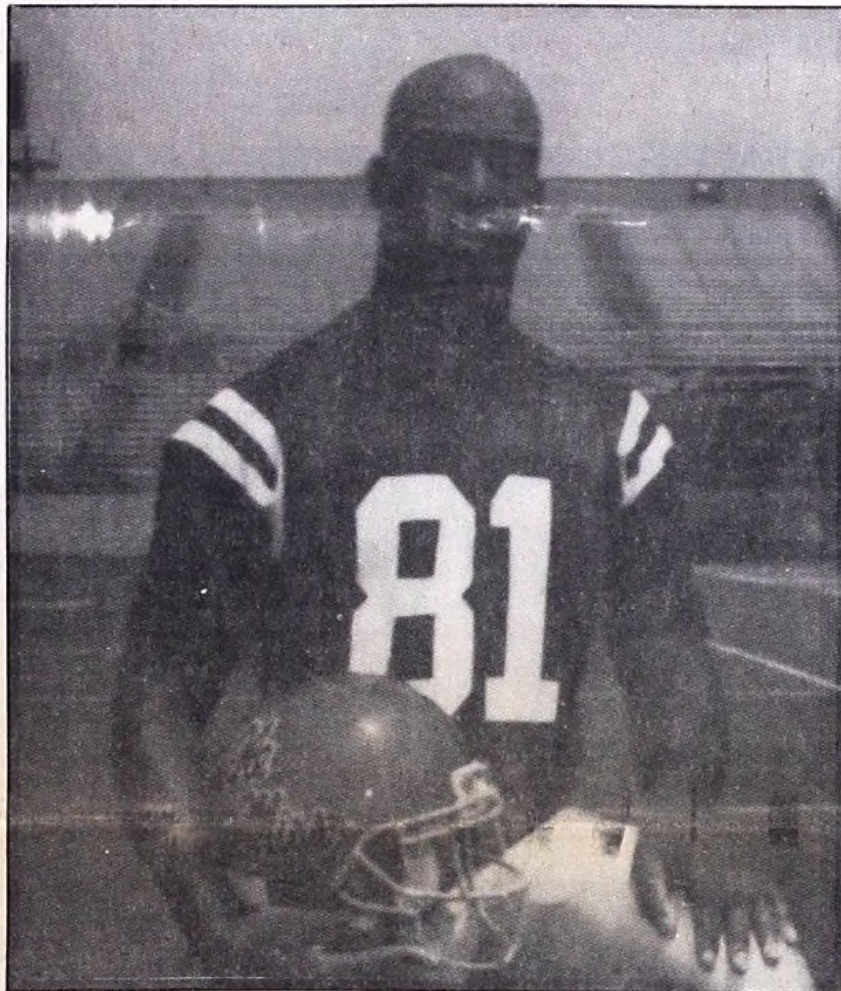

Namely ex-Robichaud High All-area end Tyji Armstrong.

Armstrong, 20, has matured into a 6-5, 245-pound tight end. He has played in all 10 Mississippi games this season.

Ole Miss posted an 8-2 won-lost record to earn the invitation to take on the Wolverines, who will carry an 8-3 record into the Jan. 1 battle. The Wolverines finished in a four-way tie for the Big 10 Conference

"He's looking forward to playing against Michigan," said Mrs. Armstrong, Tyji's mother. "But he isn't talking much about it now. I am sure I will hear a lot about it after the game."

Unfortunately, Mrs. Armstrong will not be able to make the trip to Jacksonville, Fla., to watch her son play.

Tyji Armstrong

"I would love to be there, however, it's just impossible for me to make the trip at this time," she said. "But you can bet I will be sitting near the television and watching for him."

A junior, Armstrong is majoring in political science.

Last shot saves cage victory for New Boston

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

With its first victory recorded, New Boston Huron will continue pursuit Friday for basketball respectability.

The Chiefs, perennial doormats of the conference that bears their name, will travel to Riverview to take on what conference coaches believe is the best team in the league this year.

Huron hasn't beaten a Riverview basketball team in the past decade, but the matchup Friday night could be an exciting one, according to Terry Suemnick, who has dropped the "interim" title to become the full-time coach for the Chiefs.

Suemnick inherited the job late last year when former coach Larry Swick resigned.

"Our first two games this season have been one-pointers," said Suemnick, who starred for the Chiefs in the mid-1970s. "We have size for the first time in recent years and these kids don't cave in easily."

New Boston lost a thriller to Dexter 74-73 in the season opener as Matt Holtan's last shot bounced off the rim and into the loss column. However, Holtan came back to redeem himself against Woodhaven as the 6-5 senior forward flipped in a basket with four seconds remaining to give the Chiefs a 60-59 victory over their non-conference rivals Friday night.

"I was really happy for the kids. After the loss to Dexter I felt that they needed a victory to lift them," Suemnick said. "This is what they needed."

I was really happy for the kids. After the loss to Dexter, I felt that they needed a victory to lift them.

Until Holtan's decisive basket, the Chiefs trailed all the way. Woodhaven took a 14-11 first-period lead and increased it to 34-26 at the half. Huron made a run in the third period, slashing the lead to 43-42.

Holtan collecting a career-high 30 points. Teammates Dave Delano and Bill Phipps each chipped in 12 points for the Chiefs, who made 20 of 31 free throws.

Woodhaven received 18 points from point guard Bob Nemeth. Woodhaven made eight of 14 from the foul line.

Against Dexter, Huron watched a 35-27 half-time advantage dissipate in the second half as turnovers proved costly and eventually fatal.

Scott Murphy sparked a fourth-period Dexter rally that erased the deficit. He scored nine of his 22 in that final period. With five seconds left, the Chiefs had a chance to win it. They got the ball to Holtan who went up for a jumper which skipped off the rim and into empty space.

Holtan had an exceptional opening night, scoring a game-high 27 points.

The Chiefs will also take part in the annual Romulus Holiday Invitational. The two-day tournament will be staged Dec. 26-27.

Robichaud High School ironing out grid muscles

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Robichaud basketball Coach Ron Tarrant is ready to get down to the business of fielding his 1990-91 team.

Unfortunately, the second-year Bulldog coach has been forced to wait at the sidelines until 12 of his 14 players finished up the football season. The season was extended because of the state playoffs — Robichaud went all the way and captured the Class B state championship.

"We'll look a lot better this year once we begin to practice," said Tarrant, after his Bulldogs dropped the season opener to Ann Arbor Pioneer. "With 12 of our players playing football, there was little we could do but wait."

The long wait is over, and Tarrant has inherited some of the finest athletes in the state, including a pair of All-Staters in Tyrone Wheatley and Ernie Baskin.

In Wheatley, the Bulldogs probably have the most versatile athlete in the state. The 6-2, 210-pound senior tailback set all kinds of records on the gridiron in leading Robichaud to its first state title. He also is the only athlete in Michigan history to capture four gold medals in track in a state championship meet. He is the defending Class B 100- and 200-meters, hurdles and long jump champ.

Baskin is a 6-4, 210-pound tackle who also knows his way around a basketball court.

Tarrant has an excellent point guard in 5-10 senior William Fleming and Robert McClain, a 6-5 forward-center, can also provide the fire power to make opponents pay for the pain and misery of a 2-19 season.

With little time to prepare for their opener against Ann Arbor Pioneer, a school whose name is synonymous with excellence on the hardwood, the outcome was predictable. Robichaud fell 65-55 in its opener.

"I asked (Pioneer) to postpone the game and reschedule it for a later date because of the extended football season, but they refused," Tarrant said. "The game was typical for any team that lacked practice. We shot 39 percent."

Robichaud also made only seven of 19 at the free throw line.

Baskin emerged as the only Bulldog to score in double figures. He contributed 13 points.

Robichaud, among the pre-season picks to win the Suburban Athletic Conference title, will open the SAC season at home Friday night. The Bulldogs will clash with Willow Run.

Tarrant doesn't like to lose, especially to the Flyers who he had coached before departing Willow Run for Robichaud.

"We were 8-1 in our summer league," said Tarrant. "That's why I am optimistic that we will be much better this year. However, we are going to have to catch up and may take a game or two."

Romulus to host holiday tourney

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

There will be no rest for Coach Chris Molloy or his Romulus cagers during the holidays.

Romulus will host the second annual Holiday Basketball Tournament beginning on Dec. 26.

"Last year at the conclusion of the tournament, coaches expressed a desire to keep this (tournament) going," Molloy said. "So we invited the teams back again this year."

The two-day program will get underway Dec. 26 when New Boston Huron takes on Taylor Kennedy at 5 p.m. in the first round of competition. The nightcap, scheduled for 7 p.m., will pit the host against Lincoln Park.

The championship will be decided the following night at 7 p.m. between the first-round winners. At 5 p.m., the losers will play in a consolation game.

Romulus is the defending champion.

"It's too early to say what the other teams have or do not have but from the looks of it, New Boston is a greatly improved team," Molloy said. "I feel it will be an excellent tournament."

There is an admission charge of $3 for adults and $1 for children. Fans may also purchase an all-day pass to the varsity as well as junior varsity games for $4.

On the mats Romulus finishes in middle of pack

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

It wasn't the best or the worst of ways to start the season.

But Romulus, minus wrestlers in three weight classes, managed to salvage a third place at the season opener in Flint.

Coach Norm Butler's Eagles, however, did pick up three gold medals thanks to the performances of Leroy Prince (140), Mark Warren (135) and Felton Bush (171). They also were awarded three silvers and a pair of bronzes at the Kearsley Invitational.

"We voided three weight classes," Butler said. "I felt we still managed to do well. We do have our work cut out for us this year."

Flint Kearsley captured the team championship while Montrose was second and Romulus finished third. Trailing the Eagles, in order, were Ann Arbor Huron, Lakeville and a Plymouth Salem "B" team.

Prince looked good in his debut. He chalked up five successive victories, disposing of Matt Fournier of Salem, 3-0; Mark Dittmar of Ann Arbor Huron, 13-6; Chris Schumacher of Kearsley, 1-19; Cory Ruddy of Montrose, 5-3, and was awarded a victory when Lakeville failed to put a wrestler on the mats.

Warren's 4-1 record earned him a first place in the 135-pound class. He lost one match but went on to pin three of his opponents: Jeff Martin (0:18), Idris Sherrouc of Ann Arbor Huron (0:34) and Mike Fisher of Montrose (0:18). Lakeville didn't have a wrestler to oppose him.

Bush turned back Phil Hayes of Salem (1:06), Sam Schwartz of Ann Arbor Huron (1:25), Mark Golderbaum of Kearsley (third period by default) and Robert Fisher of Montrose in 1:06.

Romulus came away with second-place finishers in Dale Gehring (112), Jason Drouillard (125), Terry Shenton (160), while the Eagles finished third with Michael Scully (119) and Jeff Filek (145).

Detroit Chevrolet dealers keep Christmas spirit alive

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP Staff Writer

The Christmas spirit is alive and well among the Greater Detroit Chevrolet Dealers.

Last month the organization announced that it would be more active than usual this year in the annual Toys for Tots campaign because many of the Marines, who were the key sponsors of the program, are in the Middle East.

This Friday the fourth annual Toy Round-up Parade will be staged at 1 p.m. on Jefferson Ave. in Downtown Detroit.

The Marines and the Greater Detroit Chevy Dealers will lead the parade with police escorts, a Marine Corp. vehicle, Santa Claus and other local celebrities.

Also participating in the parade will be WNIC disc jockeys Chris Edmunds and Jim Harper.

Chevy dealers in 32 communities are collection points for people who want to drop off a toy for a needy child.

"We have enjoyed participating in Toys for Tots for the past few years and this year we are anticipating even greater success," said Buff Whelan, president of the Greater Detroit Chevrolet Dealers.

"We support the Marines and their efforts of providing new toys for needy children in the Detroit metropolitan area."

The parade will start at Jefferson Chevrolet located on Jefferson Ave. between St. Aubin and Chene roads, east of the Renaissance Center.

Peugeots go the distance

Officials from Peugeot decided they wanted to test their products so they turned to 200 journalists from around the world and sent them on an adventure.

The adventure started in Taroudannt, Morocco and continued more than 100,000 miles on unpaved Shaharn trails in Morocco, Algeria and Tunisia.

The name of the challenge was the Trail of the Lions. All 20 Peugeot made it to the end of the expedition. The 20-car caravan included two-wheel-drive Peugeot 205, 309, 405 and 605.

All of the cars did well, considering the grueling conditions the cars traveled upon, according to Peugeot officials.

"Considering the rough road conditions which were less than desirable for any two-wheel-drive vehicle, the most common repairs came as no surprise to Peugeot technicians. They spent the bulk of their time replacing worn shock absorbers -39 in all - changing punctured tires at an average rate of three to four per day," a report presented by Peugeot officials stated.

Other repairs included: replacing seven driveshafts, five oil pans, a clutch, gearbox and radiator.

Peugeot technicians packed two spare engines for the long grueling trip, but the engines did not have to be unpacked until the team returned home.

"The route was designed to push these cars beyond their everyday horizons," said Corrado Provera, public relations director of Automobiles Peugeot.

"Jagged rocks, immobilizing mounds of soft sand, and gaping holes in asphalt roads were commonplace. Nevertheless, the cars lived up to the Peugeot's reputation for safe, fun-to-drive handling, durability, comfort and panache," he said.

Car of year to be named

The North American International Auto Show is just around the corner, and many automotive officials and enthusiasts are anticipating the announcement of Motor Trends Car of the Year.

The announcement will be made Jan. 9, during media days which will run the week before the show officially opens.

This year the NAIAS will feature industry days. This will give suppliers and manufacturers a chance to market the newest technology and have their products viewed by other suppliers and officials from many of the auto companies both domestic and foreign.

The 1990 Lincoln Town Car was named Motor Trend Car of the Year last year. a new winner will be crowned as part of the 1991 Detroit auto show.
